

A Great Army Deserves a Great MUSEUM

For far too long, the U.S. Army has lacked a place to tell its story and recognize the personal and professional sacrifices of its Soldiers. It is now time to visit, hear them, and to say thanks to fourteen generations of American Soldiers whose leadership, character, and selfless sacrifice have forged and safeguarded our nation for more than two centuries. A great Army now has a great Museum.

GET★INVOLVED!

VETERANS' HALL GET★INVOLVED!

Just outside of Washington, D.C., a magnificent state-of-the-art facility honors America's Soldiers, preserves the history of America's oldest military service, and educates all Americans about the Army's role in our nation's development. Finally, American Soldiers have a Museum to tell their stories of undaunted courage, heroic sacrifice, and awe-inspiring commitment to defending millions of Americans.

We are inviting you and your organization to support this long overdue tribute through our exclusive VETERANS' HALL PROGRAM.

VETERANS' HALL

Veterans' and military service organizations, reunion groups, and other service organizations are encouraged to get involved in this special opportunity to forever have their name listed in the National Museum of the United States Army's Veterans' Hall through a unique sponsorship program.

Veterans' Hall provides a unique setting to honor the service and sacrifice of America's veterans. It serves as a multipurpose space to host reunions, meetings, dinners, and official functions in a patriotic atmosphere. The Hall also hosts a variety of educational outreach initiatives including presentations, demonstrations, and lecture series as part of the Museum's regular programming.
